

Cross Country

By Greg Otterson

you see someone from Marquette running down Wisconsin Avenue who is not a member of the football or soccer teams, you can fairly accurately that he is a member of the 1976 Cross Country team. Yes, they are still around on Friday as their coach.

This year there are three return-ers on the team. Frank, who is a Senior and has been on the team since his freshman year, shows much promise this season. Two other Seniors, Padych and Tom Tilley, are also remaining veterans, and it is likely their season will also be re-peating. John has been with cross country since his Sophomore year, and he started last year.

There are also three Juniors who have moved up from the ranks of the Varsity team this year because of Mr. Friday feels that they are capable of handling the program. They are Pete Hintz, Jeff [?], and Bob Wesley.

When asked about predictions for this year, Mr. Friday stated, "This year is a building year because we lost a lot of people, so it's kind of hard to know how we'll do." Keeping this in mind, the team is going to think about the meet rather than looking towards the state meet on September 30.

Quill & Scroll

The 1975-1976 Volume of the Marquette Flambeau was recently published by the Quill & Scroll Society, an international honorary organization of high school journalists, which has given a standing of a "News-Service of Good Achievements." The Society provided the Flambeau with many suggestions for improve-

Improvements

By Steve Wurcer

The MUHS School building underwent several changes during remodeling over the summer. A total of over $76,000 was put into various improvement projects.

The new front windows account for the largest portion of the remodeling cost, $63,700.

New athletic lockers were installed in the basement for a cost of $7,300. Six classrooms on the first floor were painted, as well as the first floor lavatory, the back stairways, portions of the corridors, and several blackboards. Four rooms were carpeted, and the heating pipes were insulated.

Patching over parts of the roof will be completed this fall.

Leadership Workshop Held

By Jim Chudy

On August 21 and 22 a Leadership Workshop was held at the Jesuit Retreat House near Oshkosh. Fathers Doran, Majka, Stang and Mr. Chaney assisted the seventeen seniors who attended the sessions towards an awareness of the responsibilities facing them this coming year.

Members of the Executive Committee and representatives from various sports, clubs, and activities were among the seniors attending. Three main topics were reflected upon and discussed during the workshop: the personal situations and expectations of the leaders; their image of Marquette High School and attempts that could be made to improve the school.

MUHS Firm on Integration

By Bill McCoy

Federal Judge John Reynolds' ruling last spring that Milwaukee Public Schools are unlawfully segregated and must begin integrating by the start of the 1976-'77 school year has been complied with as of Tuesday, September 7.

Marquette High School, in the meantime, which might have anticipated an increase in applicants to transfer for the '76-'77 term, instead received a slightly lower total of transfers than is normal. Mr. Lawrence H. Siewert, vice-principal of the school, said, "We don't expect any significant change in transfers this year or next."

Marquette took the same stand on transfers from the public schools as did the Milwaukee Archdiocese, as Siewert said, "that we would not become a haven for students to get away from busing."

Conclave

Social Committee; and Jim Schneider, secretary.

The Executive Committee members have goals and programs for the Conclave and Marquette High School. Mark Panneton talks of, "Bringing back the nostalgia, the old ideas," such as, "decorating cars for Homecoming." He hopes to get the smoking lounge problem resolved and feels the question of Junior open campus should be considered. Mark suggests a Junior open campus after 5th and 6th period, not after 10:30 as the Seniors have it. Pat Pendergast wants to get the faculty more involved with the Conclave. He hoped Seniors will get more involved in all activities. He says, "I'd like the Seniors to get back to the position they once were, the leaders and initiators," Bob Duffy wants to get higher attendance at the

What action would be taken if there were a dramatic increase due to busing? Siewert replied, "If we saw a significant increase in transfer students or in the entrance exam, we would have to investigate the motives of those people wanting to get in here."

Finally, it would seem hypocritical for Marquette to encourage integration and yet make no attempt itself to achieve student racial balance within its own borders. However, Marquette does, as Siewert remarked, "run the summer school program, so we can upgrade the education of inner city youths and encourage them to take the entrance exam."

Siewert denied, however, that there is any rearrangement in the order of acceptance of students taking the entrance exam to allow more inner city students into the school.

to get a student tally. Bob feels that assemblies can be a vehicle to get the student candy drive off the ground. He says, "Student fund drive in the past have been poor to very poor." An exchange day evaluation sheet is also planned.

Tom Anderson and Father William Brennan passed out a questionnaire on the Conclave to one Sophomore, one Junior, and a Senior homeroom. Of the six questions asked, Tom Anderson felt the most important one was, "Does the Conclave reflect the feelings of Marquette High's student body?" Out of 89 students, 32 responded yes, 21 no, and 37 could not decide. In answer to the question, "Does Conclave really serve a purpose?" 64 said yes, 8 said no, 17 weren't sure.

Mark Panneton feels Conclave serves an important purpose, he said, "If someone takes a petition to Mr.
